CAPSULE SALVE

Catalan fiber to rescue the miners in Chile

The Catalan company, Optral, headquartered in Sant Iscle de Vallalta (Maresme), provided the National Copper Corporation (Codelco) with the fiber optical cable used during the rescue operation of the 33 miners in Chile.

The cable had to guarantee in all time and conditions the communication with the capsule for the technicians and health staff during its trajectory from the bottom of the mine to the surface. The Spanish cables' manufacturer that has a branch office in Chile since 2006, competed for this project with the cables' manufacturers from all over the world. The higher toughness and reliability of the Catalan cable make it to be Optral to win the project.
